Jen Kingwell Torquay, Australia

Midwife by trade who turned her stitching addiction into a career. After decades of exploring all areas of the craft world, Jen bought her first patchwork store in 1999. Surrounding herself daily with walls of fabric encouraged her to explore color combinations and push the boundaries when discovering her signature style: which she describes as "traditional blocks with a modern twist".

It's Jen's use of color that makes her quilts instantly recognizable. She is a scrap quilter and the more fabrics she can include in any one project the happier she is.

Hand stitching is her favorite hobby, and teaching all the tips and tricks she knows brings her great joy.

Author, fabric and quilt designer, Jen now travels the world teaching and lecturing but always loves returning to her family and store - Amitie Textiles in Torquay Australia.

Set against one of Australia's most picturesque locations, the Amitie space is large enough to fulfill Jen's dream of combining a huge range of all things patchwork, and a cafe with small batch baking and local coffee.

In this presentation Jen goes through her extensive body of work, and talks about her inspiration behind each quilt.

She will also give a tour of her shop Amitie, and allows time for questions.

Please note: This program will NOT be recorded, be sure to be at the meeting!

Block of the Month

"October Cat"

This month it is a black cat quilt block. I hope everyone is having fun doing their blocks. I have been thinking about what to do when we get back together. Instead of drawing for the blocks, I thought maybe we would do a drawing of one prize for each month we haven't met. I'm thinking jelly rolls, bali pops, a pretty yard of fabric and maybe a packet of fat quarters. All you have to do to enter the drawing is to show me a block you completed. It can be a picture of it. The more blocks you show me, the more entries you get. Something fun to look forward to!

Any Questions, contact:

Seabeck Retreat-Fall 2021 October 13-17

Our usual Fall Seabeck Retreat time has come and gone. And boy, did I miss going!! I'm certain I am not the only one. We creative people are in need of spending time with those that share our interests and inspire us. We are already planning for a fun time for Fall 2021 Seabeck Retreat. And if you are a regular, you won't want to miss out. I know that most of you requested that I keep your deposit (and / or full payment) to put toward the Fall 2021 retreat. Those of you who have not requested a refund currently have a spot reserved for you with the riding deposit (payment). If you did request a refund of your deposit, you will need to send me a $50.00 deposit to reserve your spot again. Please make checks payable to PVQ.

If you have not yet signed up to attend this retreat, but would like to join us, it's not too late. I have three rooms for two or 3 in the Spruce building (rooms that include their private bathroom and shower facilities), and two UPSTAIRS rooms in the Tamarack. They will be on a first come / first serve basis. When they are filled, I will have a waiting list in case there are any cancellations. But remember ladies, we have all been kind of stuck close to home, and there are a lot of us itching to get out of dodge, and spend time with our friends.

If you are interested, please contact me by email and I will gladly fill you in with all the details.

The dates for this retreat are October 13-17, 2021 or you can choose to come October 14-17, at a pro-rated price. For those of you that live on a budget, like myself, I will be happy to take payments if that is easier for you.
